This OP ed is the publication that was mentioned previously email request for meeting. Not sure you all have a copy.

It takes aim at all 3 offices' work and really has implications for TSCA 21.

Not sure there was any follow up needed the meeting they asked for?

Hello,

I wanted to clarify the dates. We have a Congressional briefing planned for Wednesday, July 13, and would like to set up meetings on July 12 or 14 if possible. Thank you very much for your consideration and assistance in helping us to secure and coordinate these meetings. We look forward to talking with you all.

Best regards,
Maureen

Dear Drs. Jones, Burke, and McCabe,

I am hoping that one of your staff - Nathan or Emily hopefully - can help coordinate meetings (either separately or together) with a small group of prestigious scientific experts of Project TENDR: Targeting Environmental Neuro-Developmental Risks. We would like to set a meeting with you for July 13 or 15th if possible. TENDR experts will be in Washington DC at that time for a Congressional briefing that is planned for July 14. Just FYI, we are also trying to set up meetings with other relevant agencies, including FDA and CPSC.

We are a unique collaboration of leading scientists, health experts and advocates, that have produced and synthesized the abundant research that clearly shows that toxic chemicals are a serious threat to brain development. This national problem is so pressing that the TENDR scientists and medical experts have developed a scientific consensus statement to be published July 1 in Environmental Health Perspectives, supported by ob-gyns, pediatricians, Hispanic, African-American and Asian Pacific Islander physicians, and Alaskan native community advocates.

TENDR Project has also crafted a series of recommendations to significantly reduce exposures to chemicals and pollutants that contribute to children's neurodevelopmental disorders. We would like to talk with you about these recommendations, as they pertain to your work and leadership at EPA.

Warm best,

Jen Sass and Maureen Swanson
